BIOGRAPHY

Born in France into a family of cinematographers, Jean-Paul Agostini started out as a camera assistant before becoming director of photography in the early 2000s. He now works on a wide variety of projects, both French and international.

Jean-Paul has worked on numerous commercials, with directors such as Hungry Beards, Romain Quirot, Raphaël Gianni Meriano, Pet & Flo, Pascal Chaumeil, Anthony Marciano, Soren Prevost, or Amaury Voslion, for clients like McDonald's, Système U, Polar, YouTube, Air France, Ikea, Citroën, or even WWF. He also worked on two music videos, Est-ce que tu aimes ? by Arthur H. & M, and Mama Sorry by Hyphen Hyphen.

He won the award for best photography at the Los Angeles Short Film Festival in 2010 for Mode d'emploi, by Angela Romboni, an experience he repeated in 2014 at the Almería International Film Festival with the short Depareille, by Michaël Pierrard.

After a first feature film as cinematographer in 2007, L'Invité, for the director Laurent Bouhnik, Jean-Paul used his know-how in eight other films, including Les gamins by Anthony Marciano, Tout tout de suite by Richard Berry, Mauvaises Herbes by Kheiron, Play by Anthony Marciano, Paul WR's Last Trip by Romain Quirot, and more recently Apaches, with the same director.
