BIOGRAPHY

Tobias Blickle is a cinematographer based in Berlin, Germany. Tobias was born in south Germany and raised in Switzerland. His interest in filmmaking began during high school when he attended a film class and soon after became a regular at the local cinematheque. He began studying cinematography at the University of Television and Film Munich in 2016. During his studies he shot a feature film as well as several short films both fictional and documentary, which have been screened at international film festivals including the Berlinale, South by Southwest, Premiers Plans d'Angers, Vision du Réel and IDFA. Notably, the short film "Waking up in silence" won the Special Jury Prize for Best International Short Film at the Generation KPlus Competition at the 73rd Berlinale.

After completing his studies, Tobias expanded his work in commercials and fashion projects, collaborating with directors and photographers such as Luca Werner, Nicolò Terraneo, Lucca Lutzky and Vitali Gelwich. His commercial work includes projects for clients like Loro Piana, Prada, Miu Miu, Hermès, Rimowa and Cartier. In addition to commercials, Tobias continues to work on documentary and narrative projects as well as video installations, trying to contribute depth and nuance to the director's visions. His most recent film, the black and white short "Critical condition" directed by Mila Zhluktenko was selected for the 64th Semaine de la Critique in Cannes.

BIOGRAPHIE

Tobias Blickle est directeur de la photographie basé à Berlin, en Allemagne. Né dans le sud de l'Allemagne et ayant grandi en Suisse, Tobias s'est découvert une passion pour le cinéma au lycée, lors d'un cours dédié, avant de devenir un habitué de la cinémathèque locale. En 2016, il entame des études de cinéma à l'Université de Télévision et de Film de Munich. Au cours de sa formation, il réalise la photographie d'un long métrage ainsi que de plusieurs courts métrages, aussi bien de fiction que documentaires, sélectionnés dans de nombreux festivals internationaux tels que la Berlinale, South by Southwest, Premiers Plans d'Angers, Visions du Réel ou encore l'IDFA. Notamment, le court métrage "Waking Up in Silence" a remporté le Prix spécial du jury du Meilleur court métrage international dans la section Generation KPlus de la 73e Berlinale.

Après ses études, Tobias élargit son champ d'activité aux projets publicitaires et de mode, collaborant avec des réalisateurs et photographes tels que Luca Werner, Nicolò Terraneo, Lucca Lutzky et Vitali Gelwich. Il travaille notamment sur des campagnes pour Loro Piana, Prada, Miu Miu, Hermès, Rimowa et Cartier. En parallèle de ses projets commerciaux, Tobias poursuit son travail sur des documentaires, des fictions et des installations vidéo, cherchant toujours à apporter profondeur et subtilité à la vision du réalisateur. Son dernier film, le court métrage en noir et blanc "Critical Condition" réalisé par Mila Zhluktenko, a été sélectionné à la 64e Semaine de la Critique à Cannes.
